The Saratoga Races.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

SARATOGA, August 8.—There was a numerous and fashionable attendance at the races to-day, and a cool and delightful breeze prevailed. The first, a selling race, one mile and a half, purse of $300 for all ages, was won easily in 2:46 by Clara Clarita. The betting stood three to two on Clara Clarita. She was sold according to the terms of the race for $610 to Mr. Watson.

The second race was for a purse of $1000; a dash of three miles, for all ages. There was heavy betting, which was slightly in favor of Pat Maloy. The running was close and the excitement was immense as the horses varied positions. James A. Connolly took the lead which he kept nearly a mile. Pat Maloy was even at the Judges' stand. Connolly again took the lead and at the quarter pole Pat Maloy came up even and passed again. Connolly again came up and the horses were even as they passed the Judges' stand at tremendous speed amid great excitement. At the quarter pole Pat was two lengths ahead and Connolly gradually reduced the distance to one. At the half mile pole the horses were in the same position. At the three quarter pole Connlloy was called on when swinging into the home stretch and answered gallantly and passed the Judges' stand by a clear length. Time: first mile, 148¼; second mile, 148¾; third mile, 154½. Maloy carried four pounds over weight.

The third race was for a purse of $500, a dash of 1¾ miles, for all ages. The pool betting was as follows: Stonewall Jackson, $500; others, $350. Sundown took the lead in the first mile, which was made in 1:55. Stonewall Jackson collared him and ran even. Sundown then opened a length on the home stretch. Stonewall gradually closed and amid great excitement answered the call, strained every nerve and won by a neck in 3:13. Gilroy made a good race for a mile and a quarter, but was pulled up at the finish.

POLITICAL.

Dedication of the Sixteenth Ward Wigwam—Grand Gala Night—Immense Turnout—Unbounded Enthusiasm—The Speeches.

Saturday evening the Republicans of the Sixteenth ward turned out EN MASSE to PARTICIPATE in the dedication of their new Wigwam, erected on the grounds of A. B. Boal, Esq. The building was handsomely decorated inside with red, white and blue drapery hanging in festoons from the ceiling, portraits of the Union candidates, festoons of evergreens around the walls, patriotic mottoes, &c., &c., over which the light from a number of reflectors threw a brilliant radiance, while from the top of a tall flag-staff outside a large and beautiful specimen of the Stars and Stripes gracefully floated in the summer breeze. Although but a very short notice of the meeting had been given, there was gathered at eight o'clock, the hour at which it was called to order, one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences which we have ever seen assembled on any similar occasion. The Iron City Brass Band was in attendance, and by their soul-stirring music added much to the interest of the affair.

A. B. Boal, Esq., presided, with the following list of officers:

Vice Presidents—Robert Watson, T. Menkle, George Meisenthaler, John C. Lea, Samuel King, Louis List, John Gangwisch, N. G. Craig, J. C. Stewart, B. Schmidt, G. W. Hubbard, Samuel Haines, F. Davis, Matthew Graff, Wm. Woolslayer and Ferman Duff.

Secretaries—Reporters of the Press.

The Charman, upon assuming the position, made a few brief remarks returning his thanks for the honor conferred, and referred to the object which had called them together, and concluded by introducing Wm. C. Moreland, Esq., as the first speaker.

Mr. Moreland opened his remarks by congratulating the citizens of the Sixteenth ward on the enthusiasm with which the campaign had been opened by them, and said he regarded it as one among the many bright promises of the success of the cause. He then, at some length, reviewed the two parties, Republican and Democratic, now before the people asking for their suffrage, and showed the course of the latter during the war in endeavoring, by all the means in its power, to bring about an ignominous peace. Its utterances that the war was an unconstitutional coercion of the revolted States; its refusal through its party leaders and its representatives to give aid or comfort to the forces of the Union in their struggles to maintain the government of the States one and inseparable; its declarations that the war was a failure, even in the face of victories which thrilled the world by their magnitude and before which the rebellion was everywhere giving way; and lastly its attempts to undo all that had been done by denying in voice and vote the validity of acts passed by a constitutional majority of a Congress elected by the people, thus endeavoring to force us into another fraticidal war,—all condemned it as unworthy of the suffrage or countenance of any true lover of his country. The Republican party, on the other hand, believing that the rebellion was an attempt to destroy by force of arms one of the noblest and best Governments on which the sun of Heaven ever shone, believing with all the wise and good of the land, from the days of Washington to the present time, that secession was a Constitutional impossibility, recognizing the great fact that in the Union of the States lies the safety of the Republic, have by acts and words endeavored at all times to maintain inviolate the principles emanating from their convictions, and it is because of this that to-day they come forward and ask of an intelligent, right-minded, loyal people the suffrage which has been in their hands. The gentleman next reviewed the character of the candidates upon the two tickets, showing the one to be the candidate of the abettors and sympathizers of treason, and the loud mouthed exponent of peace, while at the same time his action and words were calculated to bring about a condition of things worse than the palmiest days of the rebellion; the other, with less of ostentation, but consistent with himself, had sought peace on the battle-field, through the main entrence of the laws, furnishing the spectacle of an invincible yet magnanimous conqueror, holding aloft the sword of justice in one hand and extending to all his foes the olive branch in the other. As it was in the past so it was now. The country must have peace, said Gen. Grant; not a peace purchased by a dishonorable surrender of the rights of freemen; not a peace which would forever disgrace the victorious legions who had conquered it; not a peace which would rob the Republic of the fruits of four years of treasure and sacrifices freely given; but a peace under which the nation could sit down secure, prosperous and happy, rejoicing in the strength and majesty of its government—a peace which secured to all the benefits of an inviolate and unbroken law—a peace which would rejoice the heart of every lover of his country by respecting his rights and protecting him in all things—and finally a peace under whose benign sway the sword would be turned into the plowshare and the spear into the pruning hook, and by its encouragment of all these latent sources of the nation's strength enable it to move onward in the pathway of the ages, an example of a wise, happy, benificent power. (Applause.)

At the conclusion of Mr. Moreland's speech, J. W. Fop, in answer to loud calls, came forward and sang one of his inimitable songs, entitled "The Race."

Mr. H. P. Mueller was the next speaker, but as he discoursed altogether in German, we are unable to give a synopsis of his remarks. Judging, however, from the earnest manner in which they were delivered, and the applause with which they were received, they must have been of more than ordinary eloquence and interest.

H. C. Mackrell, Esq., was then introduced, and commenced his remarks by saying that if the unbounded enthusiasm which pervaded this assemblage to-night was any criterion of the enthusiasm which the Republican party was animated with throughout the Union, he had no fears but that the Copperhead party would, before the present month was out, return from the field, made to feel the uselessness of engaging in a struggle with so powerful an adversary.

The gentleman then proceeded in a strain of eloquence and forcible logic to examine the bond question, the different views entertained of it by both parties and the importance with which it should be considered by every voter who wished to vote aright in the coming election. In regard to one point he asked every honest Democrat the question, if the bonds were paid in greenbacks what the greenbacks were to be redeemed with. In reviewing the Democratic or Copperhead party, he said it was a party like Joseph's coat, of many colors. It was essentially the same as it ever had been, the party of revolution, and their present candidate, F. P. Blair, was but the exponent of that principle. The gentleman was quite lengthy in his remarks upon this point and made several telling hits, which were loudly applauded.

By request the band played the "Star Spangled Banner," after which John C. Kerr, Esq., was introduced to the meeting. As the hour was growing late Mr. Kerr made but a few remarks, taking up the subject of the reconstruction policy of Congress, and showing by their opposition to that just, honorable and constitutional policy the people of the South had been depriving themselves of the privileges which would accrue from its adoption.

At the conclusion of Mr. Kerr's remarks, the Chairman returned his thanks to the audience for the good order which had been maintained during the evening, and dismissed them with the exhortation to go home and henceforth to labor for the advancement of the glorious cause, until next November, when victory would be their's.

Mass Meeting in Temperanceville—Speeches of Col. Errett and Gen. Blakely.

On Saturday evening a grand out door mass meeting of the Republicans of Temperanceville was held at the corner of Main and Alexander streets. A spacious platform for the accommodation of the speakers had been erected on the south side of the Stevenson Hotel, and was ornamented for the occasion with a number of light colored transparencies and other patriotic devices. There were present fully one thousand men with a fair sprinkling of ladies. Much enthusiasm prevailed and the able addresses of the speakers of the occasion were listened to with marked attention, the audience giving frequent expression to the fact that they had become aroused to the importance of the great battle about to be fought. The meeting organized by the election of the following officers: President, Nathaniel Ballentine; Vice Presidents, Andrew McCartney, Claude Robinson, Matthew Green; Secretary, W. J. Taylor. The Temperanceville Glee Club, under the leadership of John Hollingshead, Esq., rendered in splendid style the "Star Spangled Banner" which was greeted with three cheers. Loud calls being made for Col. Russell Errett, that gentleman made his appearance and was greeted with three rousing cheers which gave evidence of the appreciation in which the Senator is held by his constituents. He proceeded to deliver a sound, practical and argumentative speech full of reason and solid facts. He reviewed the positions of the great political parties in a searching manner, and went into a close analysis of the New York and Chicago platforms. Grant and Colfax and Seymour and Blair, with their histories and records during the late rebellion, claimed a large share of the speaker's attention, and we think he handled the claims of the respective candidates in a manner so masterly as to leave no good cause for any of his hearers to pause in making their choice between them. The gold and greenback issue was next ably discussed and the hollowness of the opposition on that question fully discovered. The speaker concluded his address with a strong and eloquent appeal to the voters to be on the alert and to leave nothing undone to secure the success of the Republican party at the forthcoming election.

At the conclusion of Col. Errett's speech three hearty cheers were given for Grant and Colfax, and the Glee Club sung a new campaign song in a spirited and enlivening manner, evoking much enthusiasm from the audience.

The next speaker introduced was Gen. William Blakely, as brave and gallant an officer as ever stood fire, and one who can talk as well as he fought. He was enthusiastically received and made a speech running through an hour which abounded in wit, humor, anecdote and argument. He dealt the opposition some terrible blows, and courted contradiction from the Democrats in attendance. His speech was one of the best we have heard this campaign, and we trust that the proper committee will see to it that his services are secured during the present campaign, as he must prove an able and effective worker in the great good cause.

At the conclusion of Gen. Blakely's address the meeting adjourned with three rousing cheers for Grant, Colfax and the Chicago platform.

Central Grant Club—No Definite Action.

Pursuant to published notice the President and one member from each of the Grant Clubs fully organized in Allegheny county, met on Saturday night at the headquarters of the Second Ward Grant Club, No. 66 Smithfield street, for the purpose of effecting the organization of a Central Grant Club. The meeting organized, on motion of Thomas Steel, Esq., by calling Alfred Slack, Esq., to the chair, and Josiah Cohen, Esq., to the position of Secretary. By request of the Chair, Mr. Steel briefly stated the object of the meeting, setting forth that while a Central Club would in no manner conflict with the operations of the County Executive Club, it would secure strength and harmony of action to the various organizations throughout the county, and would lead to uniformity in all things. A Central Club would accomplish much good, and being a potent auxiliary to the County Committee, would prove very effective in the campaign.

Messrs. McCormack, Hartman and Hilands spoke in opposition to the formation of such an organization, believing it would seriously conflict with the free workings of the County Executive Committee, and Messrs. Craig, Gormly, W. B. Hunter, and Steel, made strong speeches in favor of the movement.

In view of the fact that many of the newly formed and forming Clubs had no representatives in attendance, a motion to adjourn without any definite action prevailed. The next meeting will be held at City Hall, on Tuesday evening, August 25th, to which all Clubs are urgently requested to send representatives.

Grant and Colfax Club.

The Republicans of the Third ward, Allegheny, met at the School House on Saturday evening for the purpose of organizing a Grant and Colfax Club in that ward. A temporary organization was effected by James McBrier, Esq., being called to the Chair, and the appointment of A. J. Penticost as Secretary, with the reporters present as Assistant Secretaries.

A Committee was appointed on Permanent Organization, who reported the following officers:

President—James McBrier.

Vice Presidents—James Park, Jr., Campbell Herron, Colonel George Gerst, Arthur Hobson, Nicholas Voightley, Sr., David Ritchie, D. L. Smith, Casper Gang, Chas. Schlieper, John Meyers, Frederick Lang, S. J. Watters, A. J. Penticost, Joseph M. Drennan, Christian Gieb, G. F. Comley, John U. Barr and Louis Neib.

Secretaries—J. R. Oxley, Francis Torrence and Elias F. Semen.

Treasurer—A. H. English.

The question being put on the acceptance of the report and adoption thereof, it was unanimously carried.

The Convention reported that the balance of the organization remains unperfected until Wednesday evening next, at Ling's Hall, (late Col. Gerst's) corner of Madison Avenue and Second street, with the view of co-operating with the German Club, in process of organization. The Committee's report and recommendation were acquiesced in.

Several speeches were made, after which the Club adjourned.

DEATH UPON THE MOUNTAINS.

Bear him downward; very still he lies,
And the wheeted face is pale. We found him
Yonder with his feet set to the skies,
And the rocks around him.

Where he trod, no mortal foot before
E'er had trodden. To the unknown summit,
He, across the snow eternal floor,
Strode, to overcome it.

And he won the topmost rock; and there
Found we when days passed, a ghastly burden.
Others may tell how the peaks were fair;
Death his only guerdon.

Not for him the sun's departing pride,
Though the mighty mountain made surrender
Of her virgin heights. The victor died
Ere the sunset splendor.

There is a home perchance that will weep;
Eyes that looked soft sorrow when they parted;
When a dream of death invades her sleep,
Lone and broken-hearted.

So we bear him downward, pacing slow,
Tears fast falling from the heart's pure fountains;
Requiescat carve we 'mid the snow—
"Death upon the mountains."

The bees swarmed out and covered the horses, and on F. attempting to brush them off, they attacked and stung him severely. He lay down and was soon after discovered to be dead.

—Foul play is not well played in New York. Boston thinks she can do it better. If Pittsburgh should boast of being a pretty good sort of Pittsburgh, we verily believe Boston would lay claims to being a better Pittsburgh.

—A Troy paper is informed that sixty or seventy workmen employed in building the new reservoir of the water-works, are in the habit nightly of bathing in one of the reservoirs from which the supply of water is furnished citizens.

—During the late fire at Oil City the ladies worked nobly, some of them were constantly on the go with buckets full of hot coffee which they dispensed among the workers, some formed themselves into a regular committee to assist in removing articles from threatened houses to places of safety, and some actually worked at the pumps of the engines.

—Accidents resulting from careless handling of loaded fire-arms are beginning to occur again now as the season advances, and we hear of two as having occurred this week. One in New York State where a lad killed his sister and one in Missouri where a Mr. Stice shot himself in the arm so as to necessitate amputation. It is almost impossible to be too careful in handling loaded small arms.

—A friend of ours, who has been having a good time up in York State, tells us of an old gentleman living in Cuba, N. Y., who celebrated his one hundred and first birthday last Tuesday. He is in the full possession of all his faculties and enjoys life pretty well yet. Three years ago, he could break in a young horse better than any other man in the neighborhood, although he had to be helped on his back. And even now he goes out horseback riding with the young ladies of the neighborhood, who thoroughly appreciate the unique honor of having a "centurion" for a beau.

—The Chicago Journal has an European correspondent whose name is Sheppard but should be Sheep. He goes into inane raptures over France, and sends the menu of a railway dinner as a specimen of his bliss. He says that Chicago is to believe all Byron says about Switzerland, and to prove it, sends his bill received at a second-class Geneva hotel, and made up of bad French and English; then, by way of a joke, he says he is the only man on the continent of Europe who doesn't smoke, an assertion which has the one advantage of being a manifest falsehood. If we were personal friends of Sheppard's, we should advise him to stop. And besides all his other absurdities, he makes the mistake, so common to travellers, of thinking that as soon as his foot is off the ocean steamer, all he has read of Europe becomes personal experience, and all that those at home have read becomes oblivion.

A WONDERFUL INVENTION.—The conversion of the soft and fleecy fiber of cotton into a hard and solid substance like horn and ivory, is one of those remarkable discoveries which distinguish the inventive genius of the present age. This surprising transmutation of vegetable matter has, however, been accomplished by different persons and almost simultaneously, both in Europe and this country, like many other great inventions. This new material is a substance as distinct from the original vegetable matter of which it is composed, as caoutchouc or India rubber in its natural state as a gum is from vulcanized rubber. It resembles horn and ivory in texture and quality, and, like those substances, may be applied to the manufacture of combs, buttons, and various objects of use and ornament. In its pure state it is transparent like amber, and admits of any shade of coloring, from pure white or jet black. This new discovery, indeed, promises to furnish to art and manufactures a most valuable acquisition.

POSTAGE LAW IN RELATION TO WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS.—Section third of the act passed by Congress and approved by the President, July 27th, 1868, entitled "an act to further amend the Postal laws," is as follows:

SECTION 3. And be it further enacted. That section thirty-five of the act of March third, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, shall be so construed as to permit weekly newspapers, properly folded and addressed, when sent to regular subscribers, in the county where printed and published, to be delivered free of postage, when deposited at the office nearest the office of publication; but nothing in this act shall be so construed as to require carriers to distribute said papers, unless postage is paid on them at the rate of five cents per quarter, and such postage must be prepaid for a term of not less than one quarter or more than one year, either at the option of the subscriber.

A WHOLESALE poisoning occurred at Waterloo, Ind., on Wednesday, giving as a result eighty-three victims, but as yet without actual fatality, though some are lying dangerously ill. A butcher bought from a druggist, as he supposed, a quantity of sage leaves, which turned out to be belladonna, a most deadly poison, which he ground up and seasoned a large quantity of sausage, that he got up for a rarity, and of which the people purchased largely. As soon as the mistake was discovered the druggist, Wm. Moore, started out the physicians, who, by their prompt work, have undoubtedly been the means of saving many lives.

THE celebrated bald eagle, so well known in Germantown, in Philadelphia, and for twenty-five years one of the attractions of the Wister estate, died on the 4th of July last. This fine specimen of the royal bird was born at Duncannon, Dauphin county, and became the property of the elder Wister in 1840, in which year he traveled all over the State on the roof of a Harrison log cabin, and became quite a distinguished character. He lived in the trees in front of the mansion winter and summer, and though he occasionally sailed away a few miles, would invariably return. His head and tail, originally black, became white as snow as he grew older.

GEN. SHERMAN has notified the officers of his old command that a limited number of maps of the campaigns of 1863, '64 and '65, by the Western armies, are received at his headquarters for distribution. All persons who held command of a brigade, or of a higher command, can have a copy by sending their names and addresses to him, at St. Louis, or to Col. W. E. Merrill, United States Engineer, St. Louis, Mo. Other parties desiring a copy may apply by letter, and when all entitled as above have been supplied, the remaining maps on hand will be sent as far as the supply will go.

RIVER NEWS.

We clip the following from the Cincinnati Gazette of Friday in regard to the fire which occurred there on Thursday: The origin of the fire is not certainly known. When first seen by the watchman of the Delaware, it was issuing from the side door of the engine room of the steamer. On that part of the boat there had been no fire used since she was laid up, several weeks ago, and the watchman says there had been no fire at all on the boat for five days.

The Delaware was a sternwheel boat, built at Pittsburgh about five years ago; was owned by W. and D. Rinehart and Capt. R. Calhoun; was offered for sale last week for $8,000; was insured for $7,000 in Pittsburgh offices; had a carrying capacity of about 350 tons. She was not in first rate condition when burnt.

The Ezra Porter was a sidewheel boat, about two years old; built at Pittsburgh in October, 1866; had a carrying capacity of 550 tons; was owned by Capt. J. H. and M. Porter and others, all of Pittsburgh; was offered for sale last week for $28,000, and was insured in Pittsburgh offices for $25,000.

The Potomac was a Cincinnati and Wheeling packet, which had earned much popularity in the trade. She was a sternwheel boat, finely furnished; was owned by Capt. Muhleman, Mr. Chris. Young, (the clerk), Geo. Pepper (mate) Theo. Fink, Esq., Booth; Batelle & Co., and others; she was built in February, 1865, at a cost of $35,000; had a carrying capacity of 500 tons; was last valued by the underwriters, of Cincinnati at $21,000, and was insured for $11,500, in Cincinnati offices, as follows: Boatmen's $3,500; Crescent, $3,000; Citizens', $5,000; she was also insured in the National, of Wheeling, for $5,000, and in the Franklin and Citizens', of Wheeling, but we do not know for what amount. The Citizens', of Cincinnati, had $2,500 reinsured in the Commencial.

The Pine Grove was also a sternwheel boat. She was built at Cincinnati in September, 1864, at a cost of $23,000, and was purchased by James S. Wise and others last fall for the use of the Nashville Packet Company, and has proved a profitable investment since. Her carrying capacity was about 400 tons. Her last valuation by the agent of the underwriters was $16,000, and she was insured in Cincinnati offices for $9,000 as follows: Boatmen's $2,000; Queen City, $1,500; Crescent, $2,000; Magnolia $1,500; Enterprise, $2,000. Of the $2,000 of the Crescent's risk, $1,000 was insured in the Eureka.

The model barge, Sunshine, was owned by Capt. Wm. A. Gregg, of the steamer Champion: was valued at $1,800, and insured in the Queen City office in this city for $1,500.

—A man was put ashore from the upper Mississippi packet Rob Roy, last week, by Capt. Gunn, for inquiring of a lady passenger the number of her room.

—The St. Paul Press, of Saturday, says: The steamer Muscatine, of the Northern Line, that arrived here yesterday, had no less than 518 passengers when she left Dubuque. This is an illustration of the immense travel that is now flowing northward, a large portion of which comes to Minnesota.

—The Emma No. 3 arrived at Cincinnati on Thursday, from New Orleans. The carpenter who died suddenly on the boat at Walker's bar, was named Isaac Sutherland, and he was from Vanport, Beaver County, Pennsylvania. He was buried at Evansville. It was supposed that he had the heart disease.

—The Davenport Gazette, of Tuesday, says: The steamer Countess had a hole knocked in her stern on Sunday, as she was crossing Sycamore chain, on her way down the river. The water was very shallow, and she sunk only a few inches, and rested on bottom. The water was pumped out after a bulk-head had been built in her hold, and yesterday morning she floated, and then steamed back up river, intending to go to La Crosse for repairs.

—The following is a list of the boats laid up at Cincinnati: Celeste, Allegheny Belle, Wild Duck, Liberty No. 4, Havana (on the docks), St. Charles, Cottage No. 2 Cheyenne, Westmoreland, Yorktown, John Groesbeck, Robert Burns, Silver Moon, Mary Ament, Lorena, Lottawanna, Empire, Argosy, Bostona, R. R. Hudson, The Champion, Maggie Hayes and Silver Cloud are lying above Broadway; the Darling, Clifton, Golden Eagle, Crescent City, and Melnotte, in Licking, and the Anna at Covington.

—The Evansville Journal, of Wednesday, says: We learn from a gentleman, yesterday who was in New Orleans when the Indiana was last there, that both Captains Stut and Rub Neal were robbed on board the Indiana, while that boat was lying in port. They had gone to bed with their doors open on account of the heat, and when they arose in the morning were astounded by finding that their clothes had all been stolen. They fortunately had but little money in their pockets, being both owners of steamboats in 1868. We are sorry they lost their clothes this warm weather.

GOLD closed in New York on Saturday at 147¼.

THE Republicans of Carbon and Munroe counties have nominated Captain J. D. LACLERC for Representative.

NOTWITHSTANDING the declination of Hon. JOHN M. BROOMALL, the Republicans of Delaware have renominated him for Congress, subject to the decision of the Conference. They have, also, renominated Mr. A. B. LEEDOM for Assembly.

WAS it because Mr. SEYMOUR'S letter of acceptance presents such a clear and exhaustive statement of the bond and greenback question, that the New York World officially announces that he will be absolutely mum during the remainder of the campaign?

THE Republicans of Carbon county have brought out Mr. DANIEL KALBFUS for Congress in the Eleventh District, subject to Conference. He is a popular young lawyer of considerable talents and eloquence. The outlook for any Republican in that district is not good.

AT the recent commencement at Washington Jefferson College, the honorary degree of D. D. was conferred upon the Rev. JAMES ALLISON, editor of the Presbyterian Banner, the Rev. JAMES MCCOSH, President elect of the College of New Jersey, and the Rev. ALEX. SWANEY, of New Hagerstown, Ohio.

SINCE GEN. HARTRANFT has occupied the position of Auditor General, the State debt has been reduced more than five millions of dollars. Not even the bitterest partizan has been found to deny his impartial and most efficient performance of his official duties. We are confident, therefore, that the people will re-elect him in October by a majority which shall attest their appreciation of his valuable services.

ALL THE BLAIRS, father and two sons, including the candidate, are to hold, it is said, a family council next week, to discuss political matters. Let us all fervently hope for the speedy deliverance of the country from this pestilent tribe! Like the X of algebra, they have been an uncertain but ever present quantity in every political problem for thirty years, but the people will write Q. E. D. after the whole lot in November.

THE Union Pacific Railroad, on Saturday last, extended its completed track to a point only two hundred and ninety-two miles east of Salt Lake City. One hundred and fifty miles of this gap are already graded, and the residue will be prepared in advance of the tracklayers, who proceed at the rate of four miles per day, expecting to reach the Lake not long after the middle of October. The point of completion on Saturday was twelve hundred and fifty miles west of Chicago.

THE Conferees of the XXIIId Congressional District meet at Freeport to-day, to renew their balloting for the Republican nomination. If a satisfactory result can be reached, we will be happy to announce it to-morrow. The long-continued dead-lock has not only impeded the completion of the Republican ticket in that District, but has an unfavorable influence upon that political harmony and cordial zeal which are everywhere essential elements in politicalsuccess.

THE political gamut of the Democracy needs a more precise interpretation. The canvass is hardly a month old, and they have already four or five times changed its "keynote." First, negro suffrage with the coin payment of the debt; second, the unconstitutional Southern governments and greenbacks for bonds; third, economy in expenditures as contrasted with Radical extravagances; fourth, BLAIR'S proclamation of violence and anarchy; fifth, SEYMOUR'S letter and a wholesome abhorrence of violence—each of which has, in its turn, been proclaimed upon high Democratic authority to be the "keynote of the campaign." Contrast all this with the one, simple keynote, as clear as a bugle-call, which GRANT has sounded: "Let us have peace." Its echoes will ring, unchanged, over valley and hill-top, until in November the voice of all the people will be uplifted in unison.

THE New York Express says it is plain enough to all men:

First. That the country always enjoyed domestic peace and prosperity, when the Government was administered by the Democracy; and Second. That it never has had a moment's peace, never had any prosperity, since the accession of their opponents to power.

All there is of truth in these averments is explained by the facts that, when the Republicans have been beaten at a Presidential election, they have submitted to the decision of the ballot-box, as is the duty of all citizens, but when the Democrats are beaten they either threaten civil war or actually resort to it. They threatened in 1856, when they expected to be beaten; made war in 1860, when they were whipped; bullied and rioted in 1864; and now, in 1868, are threatening war again in case the popular vote shall not turn out a result to suit them.

THE PUBLIC DEBT, as it appears in the Statement for the 1st of August, amounts to $3,523,534,480 67. But from this gross amount should be deducted the sum of $33,210,000, for bonds issued to the Pacific Railway Companies, both the interest and principal of which is paid and to be paid by the Companies, and which sum now, for the first time, appears in the Monthly Statement. Making the proper deduction, the statement shows an actual reduction of the debt since June 1st, 1868, of about twenty millions of dollars, the total footing up but $2,490,324,848, which is $194,338,978 less than it was on the 1st of July, 1865. A reduction of nearly two hundred millions of dollars has thus been accomplished in about three years. But we have also, in the same period, paid over one hundred millions for soldiers' bounties, State war-claims, and other obligations of a similar character, so that the actual reduction of our debt by its absolute payment has averaged very nearly an hundred million per year.

A MOVEMENT of much importance in its extent, and of equal significance in its bearings upon the state of parties, has recently become perceptible among the naturalized citizens of New York. This movement, largely comprehending the Germans, also includes an unusual number of Irishmen, who are forming, respectively, Campaign Clubs, and taking, independent of their old Democratic associations, an open and zealous stand for GRANT and COLFAX. At Chicago, the same disposition has been exhibited by a large number of Irishmen, who have heretofore supported the Democracy, but now declare that they have done with it forever. Nor is it surprising that intelligent citizens, who have sought, in this once favored land, the liberty, equality and peace which were denied to them in the Old World, should wish, at this time, to exhibit the most decided mark of their preference for the peace and order and supremacy of the laws to which the friends of General GRANT are pledged, rather than for the violence and civil war into which the Democratic party would precipitate the people. No class of our patriotic citizens can more heartily respond to that noble sentiment of our leader—"Let us have peace,"—than will those of foreign birth. They came here for peace, with all its resulting blessings under our free institutions, and their votes in November will largely show that they mean to have it.

IN AN EXCELLENT ARTICLE upon the question "For whom should the young men vote?" the New York Evening Post forcibly reminds its readers of the uniform series of disasters which have attended the persistent adherence of the Democratic party to a system of warfare against accomplished facts, and argues that the only way to reform that party, and to secure peace for the country is by beating them once more so decidedly that they shall be forced to accept Reconstruction as a fact, and to abandon that issue for other living questions of a more practical character. The Post proceeds:

> There was a time when the Democratic party was the party of progress, the party of sound ideas, of generous instincts, the party of justice, of human brotherhood, of equal rights, of freedom. Then its leaders had courage, they were aggressive, they were not afraid to attack wrong wherever they found it, or to maintain the right wherever it led them. If it were thus now; if it had in it even any of the old leaven of righteousness. It might be well to support it, and keep it from destruction. But it has not a single good Democratic quality remaining; it is the party of hate, of inhuman prejudice; it has plastered itself on injustice and dishonour. During the war it was ready to surrender the Union; since the war it is ready to disgrace the nation by repudiating the debt. It denies justice, and boastfully appeals to the baser passions of the multitude.
> Is that a party with which the young men of the nation, generous, full of ardor, loving liberty, having faith in mankind, believing also in the irresistible progress of this great Union in intelligence, virtue and wealth, can join? * * *
>
> The only hope of the Republican party; it seems to have a future before it; it can be wielded and formed by the young men of the nation. But even if it could not, it should, in this election, receive the support of all young men, of all voters who wish to get done with the negro in politics, of all who desire to recognize accomplished facts, and who see that the country imperatively needs that other questions than those relating to the rights of negroes, shall be discussed and settled, without loss of time. These questions cannot come up until the present issue is decided; until, by a repetition of the defeat of 1864, the Democrats are forced to accept reconstruction, as an accomplished fact, and turn to other questions.

If ANDREW JOHNSON has a special weakness for anything political, it is for the Constitution. His favorite role is that of its Defender and Preserver. The present phase of the Reconstruction question promises to open up a broad and inviting field for the exercise of his peculiar abilities in that line. We had occasion to remark, a week or two since, upon the extreme likelihood that, before the close of his administration, he would find it within the line of his Executive duty to repress the new Southern rebellion, which his own inflammatory language and his factious opposition to the law-making department of the government have done so much to precipitate upon the country. This occasion now seems nearer at hand than, even then, was anticipated. The intervention of the Federal power has already been officially and formally invoked by the authorities of Louisiana, to put down an incipient rebellion which, under Democratic control, threatens peace and order in that State. Mr. JOHNSON'S opportunity is therefore about to present itself, and his policy will be in due time unfolded. He hesitates to comply with the demand of Louisiana. He talks about having a preliminary inquiry, to see if the blacks are not themselves responsible for the disorder. He no doubt denies that, with delay, the trouble shall assume still more gross proportions. He waits until the case shall assume a magnitude which will demand the most imposing and effective display of the Federal authority. He would then be able to invite the attention of an admiring people, to the vigor with which he defends and maintains the Constitution, and the Republic from the perils which have been brought upon it by "Radical misrule and injustice," He wishes to retire from office, since it is unfortunately too true that he must retire at all, in a blaze of glory, surrounding with its halo the name of ANDREW JOHNSON, the Pacificator and Preserver of the Republic. Hesitating now, he will eventually interpose the strong arm of Federal power in the repression of rebel violence, but he waits for an emergency, which, in its treatment shall magnify not his office but himself. This is a very critical game and requires an adroit player. We trust, therefore, that Mr. JOHNSON will not over rate his own ability to control it.

THE Mercer Dispatch claims that Mr. HENRY JOHNSON was not nominated for Congress in the Twentieth District; that seven of the Conferees, viz: three from Crawford, three from Clarion, and one from Venango, voted for him; but that in so voting they represented no body but themselves. That they constituted a majority of the Conference is not denied, but the objection to their action seems to be in setting aside the contestants, and taking a man not mixed up in the struggle, they exceeded their authority.

The Mercer County Republican Committee, also, protest against this nomination, asserting that the Conferees from that county did not sanction it, but withdrew from the Conference, and justify them in so doing. It is further claimed by the Committee that Mr. JOHNSON has not accepted the nomination, and that his hesitation is caused by a consciousness of irregularity in the Conference. Simultaneously with this announcement his acceptance appeared in the Meadville newspapers. The Crawford Journal says:

> "The nomination of Mr. Jonson has not awakened any enthusiasm. It is freely charged and generally believed that the nomination was secured by unfair means and has much as this style of making candidates must be ended or it will end the party, the people appear determined to put their foot upon it now."

Without intending to interfere in any local contention, we cannot help remarking that the dead-locks which have recently occurred in several district Conferences in the Western portion of the State have not exalted that kind of instrumentality in the confidence of the people.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE has instructed a Grand Jury, in West Virginia, that the new fourteenth article is a valid portion of the Federal Constitution. The reasons which led to this instruction appear in the telegram which we quote elsewhere. It will naturally strike the reader that the Chief Justice, probably in view of the revolutionary protests and threats in which the Democracy have indulged themselves, has improved the first opportunity to declare the legal and binding adoption of the amendment, conveying to the people a significant intimation that its provisions will be judicially enforced. It is not surprising that he should hold this opinion, as the legal validity of the amendment is admitted by all except the ultra Democratic partizans, but an especial significance is to be attached to this early and decisive declaration from Judge CHASE. Do we need to remind our readers that the SEYMOUR, BLAIR and HAMPTON programme expressly includes the nullification of this fourteenth article which the Chief Justice upholds?

AT a meeting in Cincinnati, a few days since, of the opponents of short-span railway bridges over the Ohio, a detailed report was presented by Captain Ross, the delegate who had been sent to Washington to obtain the intervention of the Federal authority. The results reported by him afford an encouraging promise that no more obstructions in the way of free navigation will be permitted. We quote a single paragraph:

> The fact is well understood by the railroad and bridge companies that all work on all bridges with a main span of less than five hundred feet must stop now and forever; and it is also well understood that any company desiring to build a bridge with a main span of five hundred feet can go on without interruption. As the matter stands now, the bill is second on the Speaker's table, and had Congress remained in session one hour longer it would have been reached and passed. I am satisfied, if there is a quorum present in September, it will become a law, but not without strong opposition.

DEMOCRATIC stampers and editors tell us the bonds are held by the rich, while the poor pay the taxes. Seymour says the bonds "have gone into the hands of innocent holders, who, to a vast amount, are compulsory owners. It is a mistake to suppose that they are mostly held by capitalists."

THE Richmond Enquirer and Examiner says that the white men of the Southern States "have seen the day when they could use the bullet, and if God, in his anger, permit the necessity to arise, they will see it again."

BLAIR AND ARMY CONTRACTS.

The Democratic candidate, an ardent Free-soiler in '61, soon after quarrelled with FREMONT in Missouri and in due time turned his political coat, and now holds the second place in the Democratic party. We append some correspondence of BLAIR'S, which explains the cause of his dissatisfaction with the Republican party. It seems that FREMONT and his officers couldn't see the way clear to give BLAIR and his friends all the fat contracts they desired, We commend these letters as good reading for Democrats, who hear a good deal from their newspapers about Radical Corruptions. The history of their own candidate comes nearer proving the truth of these charges than anything else we have seen. Read:

"MAY 20, 1861.

"MAJOR MCKINSTRY—Dear Major—If you buy any more horses I wish you would give Jim Neal a chance. He is a personal friend of mine and a sound Union man. By employing him you will confer a great favor.

"FRANK P. BLAIR, JR.,
"Col. First Regiment Missouri Volunteers."

[This man Neal was accused by the Congressional Investigating Committee with various frauds and swindlings, but he was Frank Blair's friend.]

"ST. LOUIS ARSENAL, May 21, 1861.

"MAJOR MCKINSTRY—John H. Bowen is and has been all right, and I shall be glad if you can do him a favor, consistently with the public interests. I mean everything I say in this short note. Your friend,

FRANK P. BLAIR, JR.,
"Colonel First Reg't. Mo. Vols."

[A rumpus was raised subsequently, because Bowen got a contract for buying horses, though he was not a horse dealer. But who was the most to blame, McKinstry or Blair?]

"ST. LOUIS, August 17, 1861.

"Major McKinstry—I wish you would buy wagons from Espencheid & Kearns, German wagon makers. They are both Union men. Murphy & Verdin are both secessionists, and it is injurious to you and the cause. Yours,

FRANK BLAIR, JR."

[The "Verdin," who is mentioned as a secessionist in the above, was the copperhead candidate for Sheriff in 1866 against John McNeil, a Union soldier, and was supported by Blair and his friends. Consistency, thou art indeed a jewel.]

"ST. LOUIS, September 6, 1861.

"General McKinstry, A. Q. M.—General: This will introduce Col. Bogy of St. Genevieve, a good Union man, who finds himself surrounded by unpleasant circumstances at home. The Colonel is desirous of obtaining a contract for the purchase of horses. It would be laying a special obligation upon me to give him a contract.

"Respectfully, FRANK P. BLAIR, JR."

[Can it be that the support given to Blair by the rebel sympathizer, Lewis V. Bogy, in 1868, is the return for the above letter to his brother in 1861? The coincidence is worth noting.]

"September 11, 1861.

"GEN. MCKINSTY—General: Mr. B. Gishard is the party of whom I spoke to you, and of whom I sent you a message by Charley Elleard. He wants to furnish some horses to the Government. See that he is attended to. Yours, &c.,

FRANK BLAIR, JR."

[Observe the dictorial tone of the closing sentence of this letter. The "Charley Elleard" here mentioned is represented by McKinstry as having been recommended to him by Blair. Elleard had a horse contract extending through two or three months.—Vide Vindication, page 33.]

Helping a "busted brother," one of the creamiest of all of Blair's recommendations, is in the form of an indorsement upon a pathetic letter, written to Blair by one of his nearest personal friends on behalf of his brother. The essential parts of the letter are as follows:

"ST. LOUIS, July 15, 1861.

"DEAR FRANK: I write you now in behalf of my brother John, to get you to help him in getting a contract for furnishing the army with horses. He is about busted up financially, and is very much in need of something of the kind to help him through. Some of our friends have had contracts [referring probably to Neal, Elleard, Bowen, et al.,] and done pretty well. A word or two from you, in a way that you know how to put, will go far with McKinstry toward putting him in favor. * * * * I do wish you would write a few lines to McKinstry to help John in that matter. If you know any other way to help him to a contract, by order direct from the Department, or otherwise, put him on it. * *

"BEN FARRER."

[Endorsement.]

"To General Meigs: If you want horses in Missouri, I most cordially recommend Mr. Farrar to purchase them for you.

"FRANK P. BLAIR, JR."

General Meigs referred the letter to General McKinstry.

[Ben Farrar was made United States Subtreasurer by Blair, and when the latter was under arrest, he repaired to Farrar's house, where he received his friends.]

One of the names given of the Safety Committee is that of John How, an ex-Mayor of St. Louis, then a good Republican, and now a good Conservative friend of General Blair. The intimacy between them was and is of the strongest kind. Everything that John How did received Blair's approval, and vice versa. He was, and is yet, a leather dealer, but seems to have conceived the idea that it was proper and legitimate to go into army contracts quite extensively. So he joined Mr. Walter B. Gurner, of Chicago, in a proposition to General Fremont, August 19, 1861, to furnish twenty thousand army coats, twenty thousand pants, twenty thousand drawers, four thousand flannel shirts, seventy thousand pairs of socks, thirty-five thousand infantry shoes, and other articles in proportion. General Fremont referred the proposal to McKinstry, who declined it on the ground that it was too large an order to be given out without advertising for proposals, whereupon the "would-be contractors applied to General Fremont to order" McKinstry to comply with their wishes. General Fremont did not see fit to do so. [Vide Vindication, page 21.] It will be noted that Blair's name does not directly enter into this contract controversy, but, to say the least, do not his strong friendship for John How and their notorious intimacy render it probable that his silent acquiescence was intended to be more potent than direct personal help? When the would-be contractors asked Fremont to order McKinstry to give them the $750,000 contract, was Blair's name used as an inducement? The record does not inform us; but it must have been an extraordinary spectacle for Blair to write such letters for such small fry as Jim Neal and others, and refuse his assistance to his greater and more influential friend John How. It is a startling fact that as soon as information of this rejected proposal was made public, a large portion of the community thought that the failure was the real cause of the flare-up between Fremont and Blair. It was then, and is to this day, believed by thousands in St. Louis, that if the How-Gurner contract had been given them, Blair and Fremont would have remained friends, for it was only a short time after this that the coolness before referred to commenced between Blair and Fremont—a breach not yet healed.

A final decree was entered on the 6th inst. in favor of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company against Arbuckles & Co., of Pittsburgh, sustaining the validity of the patent to George Thompson for manufacturing and putting up caustic alkali in air tight metalic boxes or integuments, and restraining the defendants from the sale of the caustic alkali or lye put up by the Alden Lye Company of Philadelphia, under patents granted to Edwin A. Thomas.

Indebtedness of the Consolidated City.

In the District Court, Saturday, Judge Hampton made the following order in relation to the report of the Commissioners appointed under the consolidation act to ascertain the indebtedness and property of the several consolidated districts of Pittsburgh, of which we have already given a synopsis:

"And now, to wit, August 8th, 1868, proof of publication of notice having been made, and it appearing to the Court that no exceptions had been filed to the report of the Commissioners fixing a rate of special taxation for the payment of the separate indebtedness of the several consolidated districts of Pittsburgh, upon consideration it is ordered and decreed that the special tax fixed thereby be confirmed absolutely, and that said separate tax be levied and collected in each of said several districts and applied to the payment of the interest and principal of the separate indebtedness of the same, and to no other purpose whatever, until the same shall have been fully paid and discharged, in accordance with the provisions of the act of consolidation, approved April 6th, 1867, and the report of the Commissioners made in pursuance thereof."

Grant and Colfax.—The Republican citizens of the Ninth ward, formerly second precinct of the old Fifth ward, are requested to meet at George Gschwender's Hall, corner of Penn street and Market House, on Monday evening, August 10th, 1868, at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a Grant and Colfax Club for said ward. By order of MANY REPUBLICANS.

The Incendiary Plot in Tennessee.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, August 8.—Mayor Allen and a committee of citizens have investigated the charge of a plot to burn Nashville and other towns. It appears that the matter was urged upon colored men by John Carper, an old Union man, who is regarded as a monomaniac. No legal proof was elicited. The committee recommended an inquest to ascertain Carper's sanity.

—Mrs. Mary Woodward, of Harvard, Massachusetts, has been held in $1,000 for trial on the charge of inhumanly treating her step son, six years of age. It was testified in the police Court that the child had been whipped an hour at a time with a heavy stick; that one day in July the woman drew three buckets of cold water from a well and seizing the child removed his clothes and placing him in a tub dashed water upon his head, then took him by his feet and held his head in the water as long as she dared; that recently a cat brought a meadow mole in the house which the mother cooked and compelled the boy to eat. Mrs. Woodward in Court said it was not a mole, but a rat.

IS YOUR DISEASE RHEUMATISM?

Many persons, supposing they are suffering from this disease, have applied Liniments, Plasters and other Rheumatic Remedies without obtaining any relief, when in fact the cause of pain is a derangement of the Kidneys. These are small organs, but very important, and any obstruction or interference with its functions are indicated by pain in the back and loins, languor and weakness, difficulty in avoiding and unnatural color of the urine. A Diuretic should t once be resorted to.

THE BILIOUS SEASON.

Seventy-five per cent. of the population of the United States are more or less bilious at this season. The midsummer sun stirs up the bile as certainly as it evolves miasma from the stagnant pools. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, to check the tendency of the liver to diseased action with that incomparable anti-bilious specific—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Neglect the early symptoms, and the chances are that they will result in remittent fever, fever and ague, or jaundice. It is presumed that nobody deliberately desires to risk an attack from any one of these. But carelessness may be as disastrous as temerity. Do not procrastinate. As health is the greatest of earthly blessings, it should be every rational being's first care. Whoever chooses to use HOSTETTER'S BITTERS as a preventive now may escape the bilious epidemic and endemics which so generally prevail toward the close of the heated term and in the fall months. Is it not worth while to be forearmed when the means of defence are within the reach of all? The BITTERS are a NATIONAL REMEDY, everywhere procurable, and endorsed by the intelligent of every class Read what leading members of the community, clergymen, physicians, authors, statesmen, men of science, artists, travelers and distingu shed soldiers, say about them. On the strength of these credentials give them a trial. They will be found the very best anti bilious medicine that modern pharmacy has introduced.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone," on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten it on my lungs. I knew that the peculair mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to the discharge, which I believed was a salutary provision of nature to get rid of some morbid condition of the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, I—— C——.

☞RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a joint meeting of the Board of School Directors and Trustees of Prospect Cemetery, of Tarentum, held July 31st, a Committee, consisting of Messrs. James Dickey, W. V. Evans, Esq., John Kennedy, Dr. T. Galbraith and J. F. Humes, was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the respective Boards, on the death of Mr. JOHN A. The Committee reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God, in His sovereign wisdom and goodness, to remove by death our individual friend and useful member, JOHN A. MILLER; therefore RESOLVED, 1st. That whilst we humbly bow to the will of an All Wise Providence in this sad dispensation, we deeply feel that our Boards have lost an able and judicious counsellor—education an earnest advocate and supporter—the community a benevolent and upright citizen—the Church a consistent and worthy member—his family a kind and faithful protector.

2d. That we extend to the family of the deceased our sincere sympathy in this their time of affliction.

3d. That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Boards, a copy transmitted to the family, and these proceedings be published. au10:n23

700 MILES

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. 160 miles of track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead of 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

GREAT NATIONAL WORK,

At the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is an absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now much more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and no more. The Government permits the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy T rail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, carshops, locomotives, cars, &c.

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which OVER EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through traffic that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove that upon such a property, costing nearly three times their amount, ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

The Union Pacific Bonds run thirty years, are for $1,000 each, and have coupons attached. They bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July, at the Company's Office, in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 102, and at the present rate of gold, they pay a liberal income on their cost.

The Company believe that these Bonds, at the present rate, are the cheapest in the market, and reserve the right to advance the price at any time.

Subscriptions will be received in Pittsburgh by

JAMES T. BRADY & Co., corner of Wood and Fourth Streets;
HART, CAUGHEY & Co., corner of Wood and Third Streets;
S. McCLEAN & CO., 75 Fourth Street;
PH. R. MERTZ, corner 5th and Wood Sts.;
ROBINSON BROS., 78 Fourth street;

AND IN NEW YORK

At the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau Street, and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 59 Wall Street, and by the Company's advertised agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP FOR 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the Progress of the Work, the Resources of the Country traversed by the Road, the Means for Construction, and the Value of the Bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices, or to any of the advertised agents.

CITY CONVENTION.

The Republicans of the City of Pittsburgh are hereby invited to attend Primary Meetings in their respective Wards on SATURDAY, August 15th, 1868,

Between the hours of 3 and 7 P. M., and there vote for candidates to be placed in nomination for the several city offices, viz:

One person for Mayor of said city.
One person for Controller of said city.
One person for Treasurer of said city.

The voting at said meetings will be by printed or written ballots, containing the names of the candidates voted for, each office on a ticket by itself, and the elections, as far as practicable, will be conducted in accordance with the laws and usages regulating State, county and city elections, the officers taking care to keep a correct list of all persons voting thereat.

The elections will be conducted, wherever it can be done, by the Republican election officers chosen at the last city election; and in wards where no such officers were chosen, the officers to conduct the election have been designated, as hereinafter mentioned, by the City Committee.

The Committee suggest that the officers thus designated to hold this election shall voluntarily take the usual affidavit administered to election officers under the laws of the State, so as to shut out all cause of complaint.

The election in the First and Second Wards will be held at the Public School Houses in said wards.

In the Third Ward at the southeastern corner of Sixth and Smithfield streets.

In the Fourth Ward at the Public School House.

In the Fifth Ward in the office of the Clerk of the Orphans' Court, at the Court House, under the supervision of W. B. Neeper, George Glass and R. J. Smith, who are appointed the Board to hold said election.

In the Sixth Ward at the Public School House.

In the Seventh Ward at the Public School House.

In the Eighth Ward at the house of Henry Wilson.

In the Ninth Ward at the Public School House.

In the Tenth Ward at the house of Wm. Brown, at the corner of Penn and Mechanics streets.

In the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Seventeenth Wards, at the usual places of holding elections in said wards.

In the Sixteenth Ward at the Wigwam, corner of Pearl and Main streets, under the supervision of Noah G. Craig, Roland Smith and John C. Stewart.

In the Eighteenth Ward at the place of holding elections for what was heretofore known as the 2d precinct of Collins township, under the supervision of David Jones, David Holmes and David Kirk.

In the Nineteenth Ward at Joseph Ganster's house, on the Greensburg turnpike, under the supervision of John N. Berlin, Wm. H. Morrison and James Joyce.

In the Twentieth Ward at Beitler's School House, under the supervision of Wm. H. Denniston, Geo. F. Rahauser and John R. Rahm.

In the Twenty-first Ward at Ross' School House, under the supervision of A. J. Woolslayer, S. B. Ross and B. W. Morgan.

In the Twenty-second Ward at Irwin's School House, under the supervision of John R. Murdock, William Irwin and Randal Morton.

In the Twenty-third ward at the usual place for holding elections in late Peebles township, under the supervision of Joseph Boals, James B. Palmer and James McKibben.

Every supporter of GRANT and COLFAX and the city nominees is earnestly invited to take part in said elections, and none other; and the election officers are hereby respectfully urged to use all possible diligence to preserve the purity of the ballot box and secure a fair return of the votes cast.

The election officers after the votes are counted, will make up duplicate returns thereof, one of which, with the list of voters, shall be placed in the ballot boxes, and the other taken possession of by the Return Judge; and the Return Judges of the several wards shall present the same at a meeting of Return Judges, to be held at the Common Council Chamber, on TUESDAY, August 18th, at 10 o'clock A. M., when they shall cause the same to be added together, and declare the result, the person receiving the highest vote for each office to be declared the nominee.

The Return Judges, at their meeting, will appoint the City Executive Committee to serve for the ensuing year.

The Committee desires to call the attention of the Election Boards to the following resolution, which was adopted at the last meeting of the Committee:

Resolved, That we recommend to the officers of the Primary Election the enforcement of all legal rules respecting the qualification of voters at general elections, in addition to the requirement that the voter shall be a known member of the Union Republican Party.

A resolution was also passed authorizing the Election Boards to fill all vacancies occurring in the officers of their respective districts.

LAPORTE

PARIS KID GLOVES.

No. 15, RUE PIERRE LEVEE, PARIS, JULY 1ST, 1868.

Messrs. FISK, CLARK & FLAGG, New York:

GENTLEMEN: It has occurred to me that in introducing my gloves for sale in your market, a few facts in support of my claims upon the consideration of your customers would be very opportune at the time.

Upon the introduction of a Glove into a Foreign market, it requires a certain number of years of trial to establish its reputation. This has been the case with most Gloves heretofore offered for sale in America, as the public had no other means of judging of their merits.

Desiring that my fabrication should be placed in its proper position before your people, as a FIRST CLASS GLOVE, without undergoing the usual tedious process of cautious trial to which all new makes have to submit, which (unlike my own) have not an established reputation. I feel fully confident they will at once, upon their own merits, obtain that high position in the estimation of the American public, to which they have attained in England.

In consideration of the foregoing facts I deem it advisable to forward you a list of distinguished personages in England who, among many others, have worn my Gloves for several years, and whose special measures for a supply of the same are now in my possession, having been forwarded me through my London Agents. I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

HYDRAULIC

COW-MILKER.

WANTED—IMMEDIATELY—All who are looking for business to call and examine the

Hydraulic Cow-Milker,

"A sure cure for acheing hands and kicking cows." It milks the four teats of a cow at once. It imitates the calf draw, and stops drawing to swallow. It will milk any cow perfectly dry in three minutes. It is operated by hand, dog, horse or other power. One man can attend several machines, milking as many cows at once. It is simple, durable and self-adjusting; will fit any cow. Milks three-teated cows as well as any. Easily worked, not liable to get out of order, and has proven by practical use to be more agreeable to the cow than hand-milking. A rare opportunity is now offered to enterprising men either for travel or locate in city or country. Call and examine for yourselves.

—The law authorizing the issue of $25,000,000 of three per cent. certificates to be used in payment of outstanding compound interest notes is being carried out by the banks forwarding the compounds to the Assistant Treasurer, to be exchanged for the certificates are of the denomination of $5,000 and $10,000, and are a very handsome and convenient kind of reserve.

—Under the new tax bill relating to spirits, a distiller must own his distillery in fee simple, or the holder of a mortgage on the premises must give his assent to the United States taking precedence in case of forfeiture.

—The New York Tribune of Friday says: Money is easy at 3 to 5 per cent. Great discrimination is made by leaders. Houses holding first-class securities havd no difficulty in making their loans at the lowest rate, while borrowers and doubtful collaterals pay full interest and have to put up ruinous margins. There is a large amount of foreign capital now offering at low rates for long loans, and banks outside of Wall street are in the market with large amounts, which they are willing to place at moderate rates for 60 or 90 days on collatterals.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, August 8, 1868.

The general market are quiet though moderately active with a fair volume of business in the aggregate. There is considerable anxiety manifested to get at the general result of the harvest and to learn whether the crops are an average or above or below, as on this hinges the value of grain, and this is what operators, particularly speculators, want to find out. The Wheat crop is generally conceded to be large, larger than for several years, though it is reported inferior in quality in some localities. Mr. R. T. Kennedy, of the Pearl Mill, and who, by the way, is pretty good authority, states that his advices from nearly every point report a good yield of Wheat. Corn has improved wonderfully under the influence of the recent rains, and the same is true of Potatoes and Tomatoes. Oats are reported light in this section, while Rye is above an average. In regard to Barley, we hear but very little, and cannot therefore speak intelligently as yet.

BUTTER—Is in steady demand and we can report regular sales of good to prime, in small packages, at 30c to 35c.

EGGS—Continue in good supply and dull at 18c to 20c.

HAY—Is in steady demand, and notwithstanding the offerings are increasing, prices are maintained, ranging from $20 to $30 per ton, from country wagons.

POTATOES—In good supply and very dull; we continue to quote at $3 to 3,50 for fair to good, and $4 for choice.

GREEN APPLES—Are coming in pretty freely, but the demand keeps up with the supply and prices are maintained, ranging from $3,50 to $5,50 per bbl, as to quality.

MILL FEED—Sale of 1 car common Middlings at $1,90. Seconds are quoted at $1,50, and Bran at $1,25.

CHEESE—Is steady but unchanged at 13c to 14c for Western Reserve and Hamburg; 15c to 16c for Factory; and 18c to 20c for Sweitzer.

GRAIN—Wheat is steady but unchanged; we continue to quote prime Red at $2,10 to $2,15, and White at $2,20 to $2,25. Corn is firm and held pretty firmly at $1,10 for mixed and $1,15 for prime Yellow. Oats steady with sales of old on track and in elevator at 82c to 83c; we hear of new Oats being contracted at 55c to 60c, delivered here. Old Rye is scarce, and in the absence of sales, may be quoted firm at $1,50. New Rye is in demand at $1,25. Barley has not commenced to move as yet, and there are no prices established.

PIG LEAD—Quoted at 10½c.

LIME—Sales at $2 per bbl.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged at $1,15 for No. 2, and $1,40 for No. 1.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm and in good jobbing demand but unchanged, at 13¾c to 14c for Shoulders; 18½c to 18¼c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; and 21¾c to 22c for Sugar Cured Hams. Prime kettle rendered Lard, 19½c. Dried Beef, 21½c. Mess Pork, $30.

FLOUR—The market, although firm, is quiet, with no improvement to note in the demand. The retail trade continue to buy sparingly, in expectation of a decline, and, as a consequence, the sales are mainly of a retail character. The following are the Pearl Mill prices for fresh ground articles, which quotations are the same for all our mills, viz: Double extra, wholesale in barrels, $11, and retail $11,50; wholesale in sacks by the barrel, $10,70, and retail per single sack, $2,85; extra family flour, wholesale in barrels, $10,50, and retail $11; wholesale in sacks by the barrel, $10,20, and retail $2,70 per sack.

SEEDS—We do not hear of any sales of Flaxseed, in the absence of which $2 may be given as the nominal price. No demand as yet for either Clover or Timothy Seeds.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY August 8, 1868.

CRUDE—The Crude market was exceedingly dull and neglected to day and there appeared to be no buyers even for the little that was offering. Spot oil which during the early part of the week was held at 14¼, was offered at 14, without meeting with any response, 13½cts 13¾ being the best bids that could be obtained. All the year buyers obtain which in the early part of the week sold at 12¾ to 12¾, but no buyers. Indeed the demand both for present and future delivery was exceedingly light, which is nearly always the case on a declining market, buyers holding back in anticipation of a still further decline. Our advances from Oil City represent the market as being very dull also, although $5,40 still seems to be the asking price, we did learn that there were offered to sell at $5,-40, which if correct, would indicate a decline of from 10 to 20 cts per bbl within the past few days.

REFINED—The market for Refined is in much the same condition as the Crude market, little or no inquiry and offers to sell at a reduction Compared with the early part of the week, prices have declined from three quarters to a full cent, and even at the decline, the market is exceedingly dull and lifeless, with but little show of any immediate improvement. The last half of August was quoted to-day at 34, indicating a decline of ¾ of a cent within the past three days, as it sold readily at 34¾, and many were confident of it going to 35. September which sold at was considered equivalent to 36 has dropped to 34½, and there has been a decline of about a cent. for "lines" extending into the winter months. This backset was just about as quick and, to many, as unexpected as was the forward movement, and since the reaction there has been next to nothing done.

ARRIVALS—The following are the arrivals of oil to-day:

Inside Bedlam—Scene in Bethlehem Hospital.

The London Telegraph describes some of the scenes in the Bethlehem Hospital for the insane, in England:

In Bethlehem Hospital every effort is used to make the life of the inmates cheerful. As you walk down the corridors you hear the cooing of the pigeons, and the quick, jubilant notes of singing birds, flitting to and fro in large and well-tended aviaries. Presently you come to an aquarium, anon to a stand of flowers, while there are statuettes and engravings on the walls. Everywhere light; everywhere elbow room and breathing space. Hence, as you are led on from stage to stage you gradually get into a state of mind in which it is not in the least surprising to you to find yourself with some very gentlemanly lunatics playing billiards; nor do you feel at all astonished by-and-by to hear a piano in a neighboring room, and recognize a bit of Beethoven. Parts of Bethlehem seem more like a club than a madhouse. Every man is allowed to smoke after the dinner; and it is with a strange feeling of semi-bewilderment that you stroll into a reading room and see a gentleman quietly enjoying his tobacco over a number of the Illustrated News. "Mad!" Certainly; has been mad for years; will be mad for years; but not, for all that, miserable—not, for all that, cut off from the fellowship of his race! It is hardly the sufferers from acute mania, perhaps, that afflict one the most.

Here and there, over a fine proud face, you see a shadow pass like a thunder cloud, as the man's hour of torment comes upon him; but in that there is still some courage and manhood left. Yonder, stricken by the worst kind of melancholy, a poor creature, his hair all gray or grizzled, rocks himself incessantly to and fro upon his seat, shrinks from a couch as from fire, and gives no answer to a kindly salutation but a moan. If this be his state at midday, what is it when the night closes in? Pass on; and now, how old, think you, is the rosy gentleman asleep in a chair by the chimney corner? The rosy gentleman looks up with a surprising amount of briskness as he hears the question, and answers, "Ninety, sir." He is not dreaming, not romancing. He came to this hospital—think of it—in January, 1827, already forty-eight years old; and there is still a color in his cheeks. Less cheerful, but robust in his language to a degree which is almost terrific, is an old sailor in the neighborhood. Our men swore terribly in Flanders, but this grand old veteran would outswear thirty troopers. Never was there an old gentleman so utterly unfit for publication.

In the female wards, situated in the eastern part of the hospital, we meet with many more cases of chronic and persistent delusion than among the men. The very first lady, for instance, whom we accost, describes herself as "Queen of Heaven and Earth," and speaks of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria in a slighting tone, and de haut en bas. A poor unhappy gentlewoman has been here for years; she has grown old, and sharp, and wrinkled; her white hair hangs in great tangled heaps about her, and there is a look, like that of hunger, in her eyes as she presses towards the door of her little room, and would fain pass on and bustle by you. Involuntarily, a man shrinks from the touch for just a second; and it is not your first impulse, but a return of your reason, and your reverence for woman, which makes you accept and press the hand that she offers you. Ah, it is a thin, worn hand. Honestly, one is glad enough to mount to the upper galleries, where the more hopeful, at any rate the quieter cases, are to be met with.

Decorous as a private drawing room are many of these apartments, where some of the patients sit reading, others working, others again, practicing at the piano. A poor girl, who is, in the strict conventional sense, a young lady—eagerly accosts us as we pass. As one might guess, it is the old story of a love that came to nothing. The face is bright still, and pretty, though the fine eyes are troubled, and there is a painful little catch in the voice. Sensibly and quietly, with a kind of subdued eagerness that is wonderfully touching, she pleads for her release; she is quite well; she would be quite safe; she can take care of herself perfectly. A crucial question is then asked, "Ah! but I shall tell you the truth, or not the truth? When I tell you the truth, you keep me here." "And the truth," God help us, is that she is engaged to a young gentleman, "and that the greater part of Europe belongs to him." The soft but earnest voice—a lady's in every tone—trembles down into tears, but the eyes, though suffused, look proud, and have a touch of anger in them, as she says, "You keep me here because I tell the truth." No quieter voice could you hear, and you must be strangely constituted if you can turn away from such an interview without pain and sickness at the heart.

Average Age of Animals.

The average age of cats is 15 years; of squirrels and hares, 7 or 8 years; of rabbits, 7; a bear rarely exceeds 20 years; a wolf, 20; a fox, 14 to 16, lions are long lived, the one known by the name of Pompey living to the age of 70 years; elephants have been known, it is asserted, to live to the great age of 400 years. When Alexander the Great had conquered Porus, King of India, he took a great elephant which had fought very valiantly for the King, and named him Ajax, dedicated him to the sun, and let him go with this inscription: "Alexander the son of Jupiter, dedicated Ajax to the sun." The elephant was found with this inscription 350 years after. Pigs have been known to live to the age of 20, and the rhinoceros to 20; a horse has been known to live to the age of 62, but average 25 to 30; camels sometimes live to the age of 100; stags are very long lived; sheep seldom exceed the age of 10; cows live about 15 years, and are then killed for beef. Cuvier considers it probable that whales sometimes live 1,000 years, the dolphin and porpoise attain the age of 30; an eagle died at Vienna at the age of 104 years: ravens frequently reach the age of 100; swans have been known to live 300 years. Mr. Malerton has the skeleton of a swan that attained the age of 200 years. Pelicans are long lived. A tortoise has been known to live 107 years.

The Talmud.

The publication in Berlin of a faultless stereotype edition of the Talmud, filling 2,113 large double sheets, has recently been announced. It is stated that this voluminous work did not appear in print in a complete form until 1520, when an edition was published in Venice. A single copy of this early issue, though full of typographical errors, is worth $700 in gold. The recent edition is sold at a reasonable price. The Talmud is composed of two parts, the Mishna, or the second law, and the Gemara, that is the supplement, the completion. The Mishna is a digest of Israelitish traditions and a compendium of the whole ritual law reduced to writing in its present form by Rabbi Jehudah the Holy, who lived in the second century before Christ. It is concisely written and requires notes. These are furnished by the commentaries, the Gemara, which are very commonly meant when the word Talmud is used.

Hints to Politicians—How to Organiz Political Meetings.

As the season for political meetings is at hand, it is proper to produce the following excellent advice given by Horace Greeley some years ago, which Republicans and Democrats will do well to heed:

1. Do not fix the day for your meeting and then look up your speakers—they will already, perhaps, have been engaged elsewhere for that day—but secure your speakers first. Let them fit the day.

2. Two prominent speakers, with the local aid at your command, are sufficient for any one mass meeting. Let the people understand that these can be relied upon, and do not load your bills with an array of great names only to disappoint your audience.

3. Have your meeting, if possible, in doors. One indoor meeting, even if packed, is worth half a dozen out-door gatherings. The former is comparatively easy, and the latter difficult for a speaker to control.

4. If you must have outdoor gatherings then seek the grove or woods, and fail not to erect a stand for your speakers, and cover it with boards, and nothing else. Canvas absorbs and deadens the voice, while with nothing above, the speaker's voice will waste in the air and in five cases out of six he will break down.

5. Always put down upon your platform, whether in or outdoors, a piece of coarse carpet to stand upon. Never cover with oil-cloth, unless you expect your speaker to be lifeless and dull.

6. Consume as little time as possible with preliminaries, in marching and countermarching. Get your procession upon the ground with dispatch, and proceed at once to the business of the meeting.

7. Remember your speakers, especially the more prominent ones, have families to support. Their time is valuable, and it costs money to travel on railroads, and stop at hotels. "Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn."

The Family of the Late John C. Calhoun.

Edward A. Pollard, in a recent article upon the distinguished South Carolinian, states the following facts regarding the family of the deceased:

At his death he left five sons and two daughters, all grown up, and of these only the eldest daughter is now living. Four sons died of consumption within a short period of each other, one daughter of fever, and the eldest son, who had attained middle age, died of apoplexy during the recent war. Only the widow and daughter are now left in occupation of Fort Hill, the old homestead embowered in trees near the banks of the Seneca, and formerly looking over many hundred acres of river land in the highest state of cultivation.

This residence, once the seat of the most elegant hospitality, and thronged with noble company, has, of late, been sadly invaded by the sheriff's officer and the auctioneer; and many persons have learned with painful surprise that to satisfy a paltry debt of a few hundred dollars, the library of the dead statesman was lately sold under the hammer, being the only property that could be offered by his poverty-stricken family without depriving themselves of the necessaries of life.

The house and land were not sold, as happily, by a military order of Gen. Canby, there is reserved from execution, to every family in South Carolina, a house and twenty acres of land attached to it. The proceeds of the sale of the library—one of the choicest private collections of books in the South—were pitiful indeed. Whole shelves of books were knocked down for from $4 to $6 a shelf, and then other personal property had to be sold to eke out the claims of the creditors.

THE Harrisburg Telegraph of Saturday has the following remarkable and fatal accident: "Last evening about five o'clock, as one of the through freight trains, over the Pennsylvania Railroad, was approaching West Philadelphia, while the fireman of engine No. 373 was in the act of cleaning the smoke stack of his engine, he was struck by a bridge into which the train was entering, and was forced back and into the smoke stack, by a projecting piece of timber, and there lodged, found dead—scalded and suffocated—requiring the aid of eight or ten men to extricate him from the funnel of the smoke stack.

A BRUTE in Kansas, named Robert Beckley, recently took his little step-son out in the woods and deliberately killed him. The evidence at the inquest revealed the fact that on several occasons he had been seen by different parties whipping or beating the child in a most unmerciful manner—such as setting it up on a high stool and knocking it therefrom with his hand; lifting it clear from the floor by the nape of the neck and beating it while there suspended, and otherwise treating it as only a demon would treat a helpless child of two years. There is a hopeful prospect of his speedy execution.

A CIRCULAR, dated July 28, has been distributed in the anthracite coal regions, inviting the working men to require pledges from the candidates for the Legislature, that if elected, they will use all honorable means in their power to pass a bill that all labor done over eight hours shall be time and one half time; or in other words, that forty minutes shall constitute one hour. The miners and laborers of the anthracite coal district are advised to work as many hours as the law directs and no more, since by so doing, less coal will be shipped and the markets will become exhausted.

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

To Advertisers.

An immense extra edition of the WEEKLY GAZETTE will be issued from this office Wednesday and Saturday of this week. The papers will be circulated widely by the parties ordering them, and will find their way into every city, town and village of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Western Virginia. A limited number of special advertisements will be taken for the occasion, which must be furnished before Tuesday noon, in order to insure publication.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Rooms of the Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street.

Meets To-night.—The Pittsburgh Firemen's Association will hold a meeting to-night, at seven and a half o'clock, at their Hall in the City Buildings.

Personal.—The Right Reverned Doctor Kerfoot is on a visit to Chicago, and is staying with his brother S. H. Kerfoot, Esq., at his residence at Lake View.

West Point Cadetship.—The examination of applicants for the West Point Cadetship from this district has resulted in the selection of a son of Mr. Charles Eyrus, of Birmingham.

Committed.—Justice Herron on Saturday committed in default of $3,000 bail John Glunt charged with burglary, on oath of Wm. Mahan. We did not hear the particulars of the case.

Postponed.—The re-opening of the Allegheny Library, which was to have taken place to-day, has been postponed until August 17th. The improvements have been much more extensive than at first contemplated, which accounts for the postponement.

A Defeat.—The Allegheny Base Ball Club suffered a defeat in their game with the Cincinnati Club on Saturday, the score standing twenty-five to twelve at the close of the ninth inning. The Olympic Club will play the victors this afternoon at the same place.

Admitted.—Prof. G. N. Monroe was on Saturday, on motion of R. B. Carnahan, Esq., admitted to practice law in the United States Circuit and District Courts. He is a gentleman of fine attainments and doubtless will rapidly advance to high position in his new profession.

The butchers of Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the last few days have sold but a trifling quantity of beef, but there was great demand for mutton. The cattle disease may be considered over, and parties need no longer refrain from making indiscriminate purchases from their butchers.

Political.—Alderman J. A. Butler, of the Sixth ward, withdrew his name from the canvass for the Republican nomination for Mayor on Saturday, although his chances were considered by his friends as rosy as those of the other gentlemen in the field. Mr. Butler desires a denial given to the rumor, strengthened by a publication in the Leader yesterday, to the effect that he is out in support of Mr. Jeremy.

Serious Fall.—Yesterday evening about seven o'clock a lady named Julia Ann Brown fell over an embankment to the track of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, receiving a severy gash in the head above the right temple. She was picked up by some persons in the vicinity and conveyed to her residence on the corner of Walnut street and Spring alley, First Ward, and medical assistance called in. The physician says she has been injured internally but with proper care will recover.

Forgot to Pay His Landlady.

Mrs. C. Keck made information on Saturday before Alderman Taylor against Wm. Hartman for false pretence. She alleges that the defendant obtained boarding and money from her to the amount of thirteen dollars, representing that he had money due him with which he would settle the bill. She states that she ascertained that he received the money, and as he has not paid her she makes the information. Hartman was arrested and settled the matter by paying the bill and the costs of prosecution.

Spoiling his Orchard.

Alderman McMasters on Saturday issued a warrant for the arrest of three boys named respectively. George Robinson, Lewis Baker and John Lupp charged with malicious trespass. It is alleged that the boys have been in the habit of entering the orchard of Robert Arthurs, Esq., in Minersville, and not only stealing the fruit but damaging the trees to a very great extent. Mr. Arthurs states that he has warned them off several times, but they have not heeded the warning and he is now determined to put a stop to the practice by the force of law.

Serious Accident.

The horses attached to a barouche occupied by two gentlemen and two ladies, took fright on the Brownsville road, above Birmingham, yesterday afternoon, and ran off. They had not gone very far before the vehicle upset. The occupants, with one exception, Mrs. Dowdy, escaped injury. The lady was thrown violently against the earth, and besides sustaining severe injuries from the concussion, received a dangerous wound back of the right ear from a splinter of wood being driven into the flesh of the neck at the base of the ear. It is thought she cannot recover from her injuries.

Aggravated Assault.

Harry Bricker made information on Saturday before Alderman McMasters, against Andrew Moss for aggravated assault and battery. Harry states that he owed Moss, who is proprietor of the Sheffield House, in the Fifth ward, two dollars for drinks. He is employed at Hussey & Co.'s mill, and was paid off a day or two since, but being delayed by other business he did not go to the tavern immediately and pay the bill. In the afternoon of the same day he alleges that Moss came to the mill and sent a little boy in to tell him to come out, and upon his coming he attacked him with a pair of knucklers, making a terrible gash just above his eye. A warrant was issued.

The Opening of Larimer Avenue.

In the Court of Quarter Sessions, Saturday, a petition was presented, signed by F. B. McConnell and C. Hoeveller, asking that the Clerks of City Council be directed to certify to the Court the papers in regard to the opening of Larimer avenue, in the Nineteenth ward, together with the report of the reviewers appointed to assess the damages and benefits on property on the line of said avenue. Mr. McConnell in his own behalf, and Mr. Hoeveller, in behalf of the German Church, state that the property of the former was assessed $900, for alleged benefit, which is considered grossly inequitable, while the church property has been so occupied by the straightening of the avenue, as to render it of comparatively small value, without any adequate compensation therefor. The petitioner asks that the papers may be certified to Court in order that such action may be taken in the premises that justice and equity may be awarded to them. The order asked for was granted.

THE BENNINGHOFF ROBBERY.

Sketches of the Prisoners—Shoppart's Letter from the Pittsburgh Jail—The Examination and Its Results.

We condense the following from the Titusville Herald: We are able to add a few additional particulars to what has been already published in our columns in relation to the Benninghoff case. The public will never be satisfied till the whole story comes out. Important disclosures may be expected. The ringleaders in this gigantic crime are still at large, and only a few of the accessories are as yet in custody. We believe not a cent of the money has been recovered.

It has already transpired that "Jim Sæger" was the leading spirit, the principal actor in the affair, "unfortunate" affair as we heard Lawyer Boles euphoniously term it, in addressing the Court in behalf of the prisoners on Thursday last, and Jim Sæger is supposed to have the lion's share of the money. This "Sæger" needs no introduction to old Crawford county settlers. His father gave the "family" name to Sægerstown, and left Jim with $60,000 capital to commence business with. Sæger kept a dry goods store in Meadville, for several years, on a very large scale, and one of our leading townsmen was a clerk of his. Whatever wrecked his fortune, it is certain that his habits have been "fast" of late, so fast that he has become "ripe" for the step which has cast a stain on his name that time will only turn blacker—and which has made him an outlaw, a fugitive from justice and a vagabond in the earth.

Welde comes next. As has been stated, Lewis Welde, one of the suspected confederates, also hails from Saegertown, was a farmer and in involved circumstances a few months since. Welde was half German, we believe, and kept a hotel in Saegertown. He was a crony of Saeger's, and when arrested had settled in Ohio in the ownership of a hotel, distillery, &c. Welde was bailed on a $20,000 bond, and is now at large.

We had the privilege of the jail at Franklin and a talk with the three other prisoners, Miller, Shoppart and Geyer.

Geyer has not been in this country long, and was Benninghoff's hired man, and one who was in the house at the time of the robbery. His face tells no tales, and to all interrogatories he says, "no speak English." He is a regular Teuton, with a blank expression on his blonde face, indicative more of simplicity than of craft.

Miller is a slim, pale chap, with a dissipated look. One reads at a glance that as a repository of a secret, of either good or ill news, there could not be a more "leaky vessel." He has been a constable for years at Saegertown, and enjoys the reputation of being a "rouge," fond of the "merry company" that frequent the "country dance," and consort in bar-rooms for a friendly game of "euchre." That Miller was never before a magistrate for a breach of the laws is an item in his favor, and having neither fled nor concealed himself, it is argued that his guilt is rather that of an accessory than a principal, more of knowledge than fact.

The case of Shoppart wears a less favorable aspect. He told us he was a cooper by trade, and followed that occupation at Saegertown. He was a private in the 83d and 111th Pennsylvania regiments. He was properly secretive about his own matters. He has already divulged too much for his own good, but the evidence rather inculpates him as an accessory. His "allowance" of the spoils was probably small, and soon vanished, but his flight and concealment betoken that he was not free from complicity, remote if not direct, and the following letter from his hand would seem to point in the same direction. The letter in question was adduced, on the examination, by the prosecution, and, Shoppart wrote it while in jail in Pittsburgh, enclosed it in a sealed envelope, properly directed, and handed it with a confiding incautiousness to the Warden of the prison to post. In this way, as a matter of course, the writer, acting without solicitation or inducement,, from any quarter, incontinently exposed himself and implicated others. The following is a verbatim copy of the original:

SHOPPART'S LETTER.

PITTSBURG, PA., July 11th.

FRIEND GEORGE: I seat myself to inform you of my bad luck. I have ben arrested and am in Jale in Pittsburg. I was arrested on the Benehoof Case. I have ben here but a few days. Godam's L. Welde's Sole. I wrote to him twist for money to leave Illinois on, as I knew I would be arrested if I did not get it, and I made applications after getting here and never got even a scratch of a pen from the dam mean Sun of a Bitch, and so things went on till I was arrested. Benehoof's Son and a Detective from Pittsburgh arrested me; they have been clear to Rocky Mountains after me and James Saeger and to Omaho, George they know all about it and they even told me of things that you and James and myselfe talked when we was alone or thought we was alone, and told me whare you and me got our money and they know almost all about it. I will never forget James Saeger and L. Waeldy for their kindness to me and George I will be true to you and wish I had sent to you for money but knowing you did not get mutch and had sent me money twist I could not ask you any more you will be arrested in a few days as they told me they were going to arrest you before long but they wants get James Saeger first if possible and I think you had better leave but you must be Sharp if you get away as they had a man on your track all the time and you must be mighty sharp or they nab you in getting away and you will be arrested shure if you dont and they told me Griff Hunter was in the thing as for that I can't say but the way they used me and you maybe they got some one else in in stead of us Well I must close, burn this as soon as you read it and write just as soon as ever you get this dont delay a moment and let me know what you are going to do Address JOHN HAGARDY,

Po Box 710 Pittsburgh, Pa.

The examination of the prisoners did not occupy much time. It was only a question whether there was probable cause of guilt of the prisoners and what amount of bail would be required. Judge Trundev heard the case. A. B. Richmond, Esq., appeared for the prosecution and W. R. Boles, Esq., C. R. Marsh, Esq., of Meadville, and —— Miller, Esq., of Franklin, for the prisoners.

The first witness, Mr. John Benninghoff, detailed the circumstances of the robbery. The amount of the plunder was given at $210,000, about a quarter of which was in United States bonds, the rest mostly in greenbacks. He testified that the prisoner Geyer was his hired man at the time of the robbery; that when the strangers approached the door and sought admission he told Geyer to bar the door, instead of which he admitted them. It did not appear whether Geyer was bound and assaulted or not, but the testimony was confessedly weak affecting G., excepting that Welde had come to see Geyer several times before the robbery. Geyer had previously worked for Welde, and some of the prisoners affirmed that "the Dutchman was the guiltiest of the lot." But little was developed by the testimony of the witnesses which we have not already related, the prosecution being evidently unwilling to show their hand further than was actually needed to make a prima facie case against the prisoners. It appeared, however, that both Miller and Shoppart had manifested a desire to turn State's evidence provided they could escape and be released from prosecution. Some of the witnesses testified to fragmentary hints of a suspicious character dropped from the lips of Miller, of the sudden wealth he was coming into, of his being very free with money, &c.

But we have given the sum and substance of the proof, so far as seems consistent with the ends of justice and the future plans of the prosecution. The Judge fixed the bail of Shoppart at $10,000, that of Miller at $5,000, and that of Geyer at $1,000. The latter only could obtain acceptable sureties, and the two former were remanded to jail.

RELIGIOUS.

Dedication of the New Trinity Church of the First German Evangelical Lutheran Congregation—Description of the Edifice.

There was dedicated with appropriate services yesterday morning, to the worship of Almighty God, the beautiful and costly Trinity Church building just erected by the enterprising congregation of the First German Lutheran Congregation of this city. The edifice stands in a proud position on High street, near its intersection with Fifth avenue, a location eminently desirable for church purposes, being quiet, secluded, and in a good neighborhood. The building is of a modernized Gothic style of architecture, built of fine brick and ornamented with cut stone facings. It is one hundred and thirty-five feet deep with a front and width of sixty-five feet. In the centre rises a model spire, carrying a brick base up to the height of about 120 feet and ending in an exquisitely beautiful steeple covered with chequered and variegated slate and ornamentally capped. The spire from the ground to the cap is 180 feet high, and can be seen from nearly all parts of the city. Exteriorly the church is another valuable contribution to the number of fine architectural edifices reared by our christian people to the honor and glory of God. In point of neatness and substantiality it will more than favorably compare with a majority of our temples of worship. Its cost, excluding the valuable ground on which it stands, will closely approximate $50,000, and together with the grounds and buildings for school purposes and parsonage erected thereon, approaches $90,000, which the public spirited congregation expended willingly to secure the decency of divine worship. The parochial school house is immediately in the rear of the church to the left, and is a compactly built brick building of three stories, containing all the modern school furniture and facilities for educating the youth. The parsonage, fronting the street to the left of the church, is a neat and substantial two-story building, finished throughout in elegant style and altogether an elegant and desirable residence for the much appreciated paster. The church and grounds are enclosed with very beautiful iron railings, and nothing has been left undone to improve the fine outward appearance of the edifice. In the interior the Church presents a magnificent appearance, neither pains nor expense having been spared to render it the prettiest in the city. The points of entrance, through a broad doorway in the centre and a door on either side, lead to a finely finished vestibule paved with white marble. On either side ascend broad white oak stairs leading into the galleries, which are upon both sides of the Church. The entrance to the main auditorium leads into a broad middle aisle which ends at the steps of the altar. There are three broad aisles in the Church, and including the galleries two thousand persons can be comfortably provided with seats, while nearly double that number can be present at one time. The arched ceilings are frescoed in a highly artistic manner, and are provided with fourteen ornamental ventilators. There are seven stained glass windows of large proportions on each side of the church. These are supplied with emblematical figures in a circle near the top, which are elegant specimens of art. The following figures appear: A cross and crown, a sheaf of wheat, the Greek letters Alpha and Omega, a lamb, an anchor, a water lily, an all seeing eye, the tablets of Moses, a passion flower, the stork feeding her young, a dove, the letters I. H. S. The intelligent reader will need no interpretation of these symbolic figures and letters. The altar is simply grand. It is approached by five broad steps which are covered with green velvet carpet. A gothic structure of elaborately carved white oak, rises in the rear of the altar stone and forms niches for the depository of a virgin white, life size statue of Christ and the four Evangelists—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. These were presented to the congregation by the architects of the edifice, Messrs. Griese & Weill, of Cleveland. Front of the gothic ornamentation is the altar, the usual form surmounted with an ivory crucifix, at the base of which lay the symbol of death, the skull and cross bones cut out of marble. The altar is covered with richly fringed and embroidered crimson velvet, and has worked upon it a verse taken from the scriptures. Immediately in front of the altar is the baptismal font of highly polished marble. It bears an inscription denoting it to be a gift from Mrs. Hannah M. Nieman, and a generous one it is. To the left of the altar, looking from it to the congregation, is the pulpit artistically designed to represent a chalice, and cleverly carved and ornamented, bearing medallion portraits of illustrious men of the church. The sounding board above the pulpit is richly painted and has in its centre the figure of a dove emblematic of the Holy Spirit. Access is obtained to the pulpit through a sacristy to the left of the altar, the stairs ascending from that apartment and being hidden from outside view. The pews, like all the woodwork about the church, are grained in imitation of white oak and are each capable of seating six persons. At night the church will be lighted with two magnificent chandeliers dependent from the ceiling and each having twelve jets. Besides these there are about forty brackets distributed about the walls in convenient places. Upon the whole the interior of the church is grand and enticing and speaks volumes in praise of the architects, Messrs. Greise & Weill, of Cleveland, and the builder, Mr. Peter Suelker, of Birmingham.

The dedicatory services were performed yesterday morning before an audience variously estimated from three to four thousand persons. The Church was handsomely decorated with evergreens and mottoes, and presented a gala appearance. One banner was specially attractive. It was of blue silk, richly embroidered, bearing the following inscriptions in German:

"God's word and Luther's teachings pure.
Will through eternity endure."

"Behold I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast that no man take thy crown."—Rev. 3d chap. 11th verse.

The Rev. J. A. F. W. Müeller, the much valued pastor of the congregation, officiated at the altar and performed the dedicatory services. The sermon of the occasion, in German, was delivered by Rev. Prof. E. A. Brauer, of St. Louis, formerly pastor of this church. Those who understood the language speak very highly of the sermon, it being both brilliant and eloquent. In the afternoon, Rev. F. Schneidt preached in German to a large congregation, delivering a beautiful discourse appropriate to the occasion. In the evening the services were conducted by Rev. Samuel Laird, of the First English Evangelical Church, assisted by Rev. H. W. Roth, pastor of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Birmingham. The former occupied the pulpit and delivered in English a masterly sermon, full of religious enthusiasm and replete with thought and beauty. There was a vast audience in attendance, and many were unable to gain admittance to the church. This afternoon the services will be continued, when that well known and zealous pastor, Rev. G. A. Wenzel of the Second German Evangelical Church of this city, will occupy the pulpit.

The congregation will occupy their new church from this out, and it will long stand as a monument to their religious zeal and enterprise.

Re-opended.

The Beaver Street M. E. Church, Rev. J. W. Baker, Pastor, was re-opened yesterday for public worship with interesting exercises. This Church has been closed for some time past, for the purpose of being renovated and repaired. During the time it has been thoroughly cleaned and repainted inside and outside. The walls and ceiling of the auditorium were handsomely frescoed and all the inside wood work grained anew, and a beautiful new carpet placed on the floor. The house now presents a very clean, cozy and cheerful appearance and speaks well for the liberality and enterprise of the congregation. The exercises yesterday were conducted by the pastor, and attracted large audiences throughout the whole day.

The Cattle Disease--Another Meeting of Allegheny Butchers.

In pursuance of previous arrangments a second meeting of the butchers of Allegheny was held in the Mayor's office, Saturday afternoon at one o'clock.

On motion of Mr. Joseph McDonald, Hon. J. L. Graham was called to the chair, the reporters of the press acting as secretaries.

Mr. Graham, on taking the chair, said that as he understood it, the meeting had been called for the purpose of obtaining a free interchange of opinion from the butchers and citizens in general in regard to the best method of preventing the sale of diseased cattle in the city.

Mr. Joseph McDonald stated that at a previous meeting a committee had been appointed to take note of and inspect all cattle coming into the city on Saturday. The Committee had prepared a report which exhibited the following arrivals of cattle during the morning:

Two car loads from Cadiz, Ohio, consigned to Krauss & Haads.

Two car loads from Portage county, Ohio, to Jas. McCallister.

One drove of cattle from Washington county, to Stakely & Bro.

Sixteen head from Washington county, to Myers & Needy.

Two car loads from Belmont county, Ohio, to Hazelwood & Blackstock.

Two car loads from Edward Thayer, Portage county, Ohio.

One car load from East Liberty, to L. Shamberg. Re-shipped back.

The Committee stated that they had no knowledge of any diseased cattle being offered for sale in the Allegheny yards.

The report was accepted.

Mr. Greenawalt, a drover, objected to the resolution passed at a previous meeting, preventing butchers from buying any cattle coming from Chicago. He thought they should be allowed to buy cattle coming from any place, providing the Committee of Inspection pronounced them sound.

Mr. M'Donald moved that a committee of three be appointed by the Chair to visit the yards in the city and report the condition of affairs there to the Mayor on Monday.

The motion was carried, and Messrs. Jos. M'Donald, J. F. Beilstein and Wm. Badder appointed on said committee.

Mr. Sanderson asked information whether the diseased cattle could be readily distinguished from the others not diseased.

Mr. Beilstein said he had paid a visit to the East Liberty Yards to investigate that matter, and he found that there were certain infallible signs on each of the diseased cattle which could easily be discovered by any person at all familiar with the trade. From these signs the first symptoms of the disease were revealed, and the committee of inspection would have no difficulty in separating the healthy from the diseased ones in any drove.

Mr. Beilstein's statements were corroborated by several of the butchers present from their own observation.

Mr. James Sanderson moved that the Committee be instructed to petition Councils at their next meeting for the appointment of a meat inspector for the city. Carried.

On motion of Mr. Robert Gray, Richard Danver, was unanimously recommended for the position.

Mr. Greenawalt asked for information whether the cattle pronounced sound by the Committee could be purchased by the butchers, regardless of the place from whence they had been shipped.

The Chairman stated such to be his understanding of the action of the meeting in appointing the Committee.

On motion, adjourned.

—Since writing the above we have been handed the following report of the Committee on Inspection. The Committee it seems visited the yards on Saturday after the meeting and yesterday and make their report accordingly:

ALLEGHENY CATTLE YARDS,
August 9, 1868.

We, the undersigned Committee appointed to investigate the arrival of all cattle coming to these yards, have paid due attention to the matter and found them perfectly satisfactory. The arrivals are all from the adjoining counties.

JOSEPH B. MCDONALD,
J. F. BEILSTEIN,
W. BADER.

Did He Take It Back?

A man before he gets through the world is very often met with the demand, "Take that back," accompanied by a fierce threat if not rapidly complied with. (None are better acquainted with this fact than reporters.) A little "taking back" transaction, however, in which George Maxwell is said to have figured, instead of bringing him relief was rather of the reverse order. Mrs. McNally, his landlady, in relating the circumstance states that George came into the house with a companion on Saturday to pay his board bill, amounting to fifteen dollars. The money was laid on the table for a few minutes, and while the lady went to another part of the room George and his companion departed, the money, also, mysteriously disappearing at the same time. Thinking the matter a little strange she consulted that courteous official, Mayor Drum, who by some means prevailed on George to call at his office, there the matter was explained to him, with the intimation that he knew something about it. He denied all knowledge of the affair, but the appearance of a commitment softened his heart a little, and he generously paid over the amount, saying that he would see his companion and have the matter investigated. He left shortly afterwards, and at last accounts no report of the result had been received at the office.

A Little Wanderer.

On Friday night there arrived in this city a bright lad about thirteen years old, who told a short story of wrong perpetrated on him. He says his name is Jarrett; that his parents reside in Iowa City, Iowa, from whence he was enticed by a man to go to Brooklyn, N. Y., to sing in a choir. That while in the man's keeping he was treated badly and almost starved. On expressing a desire to return to his home his guardian accompanied him to Jersey City, where he left him to pursue his journey as best he could. He had means enough to get this far, but his funds gave out and for protection and aid he visited the Mayor's office. There happened, fortunately for the boy, to be a number of the members of the Vigilant Fire Company in the office at the time. They provided for him liberally, attending to his every want, and with a new suit of clothing and some money and a railway ticket in his pocket he will depart to-day for the home of his parents. This act of kindness and charity to a mere child on the part of the "Vigy boys" is its own commentary, and no word of praise should mar the noble deed so well and generously performed.

"Harvest Home."

Elm Grove, at Shousetown, on the Ohio river, sixteen miles below the city, was the scene of a quite interesting and memorable affair Friday night last. A picnic, partly moonlight, partly candle light, was held by the people of that goodly neighborhood, aided by a small delegation from our neighborhood.

With such romantic surroundings, such delightful breezes, such inspiring music, and such a display of beauty and artistic skill, there is little wonder that everybody declared it the happiest event of the season. "At the witching time of night" the assemblage dispersed, hoping for an early opportunity to lead up their sports again beneath the village trees.

A Chapter of Runaways—Several Buggies Upset—A Little Child Injured.

Yesterday evening about six o'clock several one-horse buggies, filled with young men returning from a pleasure trip, were being driven down Pennsylvania avenue when one of the horses became frightened and started to run. Coming in contact with a two-horse barouche one of the wheels of that vehicle was torn off, the buggy also sharing a similar fate. This accident so frightened the other horses in the train that they became unmanageable and started off also. When near the corner of Pride street and the avenue two of the buggies collided and were upset, one of the occupants having several ribs broken—the others sustaining no injuries beyond a few slight bruises. The remaining horse, attached to a buggy in which were seated three young men, nothwithstanding all their exertions, continued on his mad career. Just above Stevenson street the horse shied on the pavement, coming in contact with a post, and the vehicle was overturned.

Mr. Eris, residing on Boyd's Hill, was driving along in a buggy, containing, beside himself, his son and a little daughter about six years of age, when he heard an outcry, and looking behind him saw the last mentioned runaway coming. He immediately drove on the pavement to be out of the way. In the meanwhile, just below Stevenson street, the affrighted animal shied on the pavement, coming in contact with a post and overturning the vehicle. Quickly breaking away from the harness, he ran along the pavement, and in attempting to pass between the fence and Mr. Eris' buggy, he overturned that vehicle also. The father and son both escaped injury, but the little girl was thrown under the feet of their own horse, receiving a severe gash on the top of the head and being otherwise badly injured. She was taken into a neighboring house and Dr. Baden called in, who dressed the wound. The Doctor thinks the child will recover with careful attention. It seems a miracle that she was not killed outright. Some of the animals continued their flight till they reached their stables, and the others were secured before going far. With the exception of the persons mentioned none were seriously injured. We failed to learn the names of any of the party, but will doubtless hear further of the affair to-day, as one of the parties, it is said, threatens to bring suit for reckless driving against one of his companions. We experienced considerable difficulty in getting the circumstances of the affair, several parties who seemed to be in possession of the facts refusing to give us any information. As near as we could learn, however, the particulars are as we have reported them.

A House Thief Jailed.

Frank Williamas, the thief who was detected in ransacking the dwelling of D. W. C. Bidwell, Esq., on Stockton Avenue, had a hearing before Mayor Drum on Saturday, when the following particulars of the case were developed. It seems that he had gone round to the rear of the building, and when discovered had broken the sash of the windows. A lady living near by saw his action, and with great forethought raised no alarm, but quietly went out and notified a police officer of the affair. He immediately repaired to the house and succeeded in capturing the fellow inside. On being conveyed to the lock-up he gave his name as Frank Williams. He was searched, and about a half dozen pawn tickets were found in his pockets. Securing these the officers called at the pawn offices and recovered a considerable amount of clothing and valuables, which the fellow had evidently been some time in collecting. The family of Mr. Bidwell are away, and the house was left unoccupied, a fact which the fellow seems to have been aware of. None of the stolen property has been identified yet. He gave a different name at each pawn shop, and the name given at the Mayor's office was different from all the rest. He seems to have a faculty of inventing names, but, unfortunately, that is a talent not required in the every day life of an honest man. After the hearing, in default of $1,000 bail, he was committed for trial.

Sewing Machines.

People should be careful how they are influenced by the representations of sewing machine agents in this city during the controversy now indirectly going on between them. Some of them, being unable to set forth any special merit for their machines, endeavor to make up for this by claiming that the particular companies they represent have sold a greater number of machines than any other. But while this fact is not settled, each agent reasserting his claim and backing his statement by figures, it is pretty well established that the Weed Sewing Machine is the favorite in this locality. Special merits are set up for it which cannot be disputed, and which render it superior to all others. Simplicity of construction, ease of operation, and the infrequency of its getting out of order, are the main advantages. It is quite as "noiseless" as any other machine, since in its construction and operation fifty per cent. less machinery is employed. It is not run by cogs, and in no case is it necessary to take it apart for cleaning or oiling. This can be done without removing a screw, as it turns on a hinge and all parts of it easily accessible for any purpose. That the Weed machine is the favorite in Pittsburgh is plainly shown by the published lists of well-known citizens who have purchased it. In neighborhoods where one has been sold, it is a distinguishing fact that other orders have quickly followed. In the last ninety days there have been more Weeds sold at retail in Pittsburgh and vicinity than of any other machine—a fact which cannot be successfully disputed. They can be found in families in nearly every street in the city, and in some neighborhoods are plentifully distributed.

The Newell Institute.

We take pleasure in calling attention to the notice found in our advertising columns, of the re-opening, on September 1st, of the "Newell Institute," No. 267 Penn street, which is already so favorably known in the community. It will be seen that the corps of teachers is composed of the best talent that can be obtained. Mr. James R. Newell, so well known as an elocutionist and a teacher, has long been regarded as a leading educator. Mr. I. Allen McCrum, late principal of the Second ward Schools, bears a reputation that will insure success wherever he may be called to labor as a teacher. Mr. W. Sloan, late of Columbia College, brings with him a reputation not to be excelled. Messrs. W. A. Burchfield, teacher in the Higher English department, H. Newell, teacher of Sciences and Drawing, R. Johnson, former teacher of Bookkeeping and Penmanship in the Iron City College, A. Dause, teacher of French, —— Müller, teacher of German, and Miss Spencer, still retain their connection with the school. The ladies' and boys' school are entirely separate. The school certainly recommends itself as a most desirable place to obtain a first-class education.

Grand Trial of Sewing Machines.

Judges—The whole world. The trial fifteen years' duration and practical use the test.

The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine the champion.

The universal verdict, number of machines manufactured by the different companies ending September 10, 1867.

Wheeler & Wilson (round numbers)	300,000
Singer & Co	202,000
Grover & Baker	165,000
Wilcox & Gibbs	87,000
Howe Co	58,000
Florence	35,000
Finkle & Lyon	19,000
Empire	14,000
Ætna	12,000
Weed	7,000
Leavit	6,000

It should be remembered that one of these, the Singer's, is fully three years older than any other, and that all of them have been in the market at least seven or eight years, and all except the Wheeler & Wilson, Florence and Wilcox & Gibbs include in their amount of sales their heavy manufacturing machines, which of course is a large proportion of those manufactured. Wheeler & Wilson manufacture only Family Machines, and therefore have had an actual sale of Family Machines nearly as many as all the rest put together. This is the verdict of fifteen years. Their office in this city is 27 Fifth street. Their terms are as liberal as any other Machine Company, notwithstanding their superiority.

Our readers will notice the advertisement in our colums to-day of LAPORTE'S Paris Kid Gloves, and will, no doubt, recall the name of "LAPORTE," whose peculiar signature they have seen in the beautifully cut and elastic Kid Glove brought home by many a returning tourist from London.

The introduction of these admirable and widely known Gloves into the United States, deserves more than a passing notice. LAPORTE'S Kid Gloves have been in use for nearly a quarter of a century by the Queen and Royal Family of England, and also by many of the most noble and distinguished families of that and other countries. It is noted for its beautiful shape, giving to the hand that graceful outline so rarely seen in ordinary gloves, heightening the effect of a handsome hand, and concealing in a measure any natural defect in those that are otherwise.

Our enterprising merchants will not be slow in availing themselves of the advantages which have already been derived by European dealers in this Glove. One house in London (the well known firm of J. & R. MORLEY) sell annually 30,000 dozen of LAPORTE'S Gloves.
